ADMINISTRATION

GLEN TAYLOR

On March 23, 1995, Glen Taylor closed the deal that made him majority owner of the Minnesota Timberwolves. He added the title of NBA franchise owner to a list that already included international businessman, state senator, entrepreneur, philanthropist and executive of the year.

Before he even completed his first full season as owner, Taylor set in motion his plan for making a mark on the Minnesota sports scene. Prior to the completion of the sale of the team from Marv Wolfenson and Harvey Ratner, Taylor had installed Rob Moor and Roger Griffith as the team's president and chief financial officer, respectively, and promoted Minnesota and NBA basketball legend Kevin McHale to assistant general manager. With the move of McHale to vice president of basketball operations and the addition of head coach Phil "Flip" Saunders and director of scouting and player development (and now assistant coach) Jerry Sichting, Taylor has assembled a basketball staff with years of experience in the pro ranks.

Taylor is Chairman of the Board of Taylor Corporation, located in Mankato, Minn., 75 miles southwest of the Twin Cities. The Taylor companies, which are involved in the printing, marketing and electronics industries, include more than 70 operating divisions in 19 states, three Canadian provinces, the United Kingdom, Australia and Mexico. Their employees number more than 12,000, including more than 5,000 Minnesotans.

Taylor built his company from modest beginnings. While a student at Mankato State University in 1959, he took a part-time job at Carlson Wedding Service. Fifteen years later, in 1974, he acquired a majority interest in the company, laying the foundation for what would soon grow into Taylor Corporation. Taylor Corporation is the nation's largest printer of wedding invitations, controlling more than half that market. Many of the companies' products are sold through independent vendors such as gift and stationery stores.

Taylor's business savvy has been recognized by Corporate Report magazine, which honored him as its Executive of the Year (1987), and the Sales and Marketing Executives of Minneapolis/St. Paul, who awarded him with their Sales Executive of the Year Award (1999).

Taylor was elected to the Minnesota Senate in 1980, where he served until 1990. He became assistant Senate minority leader in 1982. From 1984 to 1986, he served as Senate minority leader. While in the Senate, Taylor was Through personal involvement, Taylor has remained active in many civic and charitable causes. In Mankato, he has served as YMCA President, Chamber of Commerce Director, Mankato Jaycees President and United Way Campaign Chairman. He has also served on his church's board of deacons and board of trustees and on the Mankato State University Foundation board of directors. On the state level, Taylor has served as the director of the Minnesota Business Partnership, director of the Greater Minnesota Corporation and president of the International Thermographers Association.

Nationally, Taylor has provided expert testimony on business and child care issues to the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives and served as a committee chair on the 1991 Commission on Reform and Efficiency (CORE).

In 1997, Mankato State University awarded Taylor its first honorary doctorate. Taylor received the degree of Honorary Doctor of Laws for his distinguished professional career and volunteer service. In October 2001, Taylor was inducted into the Minnesota State University, Mankato Hall of Distinction.

Taylor was born April 20, 1941, and raised on a farm 60 miles west of his current home in Mankato. He graduated from Comfrey (Minn.) High School in 1959. In just three years, he earned his bachelor's degree in mathematics, physics and social science from Mankato State University. He later continued his education at the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

Taylor lives in Mankato with his wife, Bonnie. Their children, Terri, Jean, Darik, Taylor Moor, Jeff and Kendahl, and grandchildren, Andrea, Melissa, Grayson, and Emma, and great-granddaughter, Piper Rose, enjoy attending many of the Timberwolves games.

KEVIN McHALE

On Oct. 1, 1999, Kevin McHale was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. In the typical McHale style, he gave credit to his teammates for helping him to get there. But no one goes into the Hall of Fame without a lot of hard work and personal accomplishment. McHale's Hall of Fame career was marked by his constant desire to improve his play and single-minded focus to win every game he played. That's how he played the game as a power forward/center in Boston, and that is how he's building the Timberwolves team as the vice president of basketball operations in Minnesota.

McHale wasted no time in working to improve the Timberwolves. One of McHale's first moves came shortly after he was named to his current post on May 11, 1995 – he selected high-school phenom Kevin Garnett with the fifth overall pick in the 1995 NBA Draft. Considered a bold move at the time, McHale and his staff were rewarded with an outstanding rookie campaign from Garnett. Garnett's improvement and McHale's continual reshaping of the Wolves' roster have resulted in five consecutive years of playoff basketball in Minnesota.

McHale has had a history of success in the game of basketball. In high school, he led Hibbing to the Minnesota Class AA State Basketball Tournament title game; in college, he posted a career average of 15.2 points and 8.5 rebounds per game in four seasons at the University of Minnesota, earning first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1979 and 1980; and in the pro ranks, he joined the Boston Celtics for three NBA championships, the first coming in his rookie season with the team.

McHale continued that tradition of quick successes with the Timberwolves, moving from special assistant in 1993-94 to assistant general manager in 1994-95 to his latest endeavor as vice president of basketball operations. In that role, McHale is responsible for the franchise's entire basketball operations department – overseeing player personnel decisions, scouting and the coaching staff.

In McHale's first season with the Wolves, 1993-94, he served as a special assistant to the coaching staff. That position utilized the experience of his lengthy basketball career, which culminated in the retiring of his pro, college and high-school game jerseys. In August 1994, he was promoted to a newly-created position of assistant general manager.

V.P. OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

For two seasons, 1993-95, fans enjoyed the insight and wit he brought to his broadcast analysis on the Timberwolves Television Network. His unique style and perspective, combined with the talents of Kevin Harlan, Chad Hartman and Tom Hanneman, made for one of the top local broadcasts in the NBA. With the demands of his vice-president position, McHale relinquished his broadcasting duties with the Wolves.

Prior to coming to the Timberwolves organization, McHale played 13 seasons for the Celtics before retiring in the spring of 1993. A first-round selection (third overall) by Boston in the 1980 NBA Draft, McHale helped lead the Celtics to three NBA championships (1981, 1984 and 1986), five Eastern Conference titles and eight Atlantic Division crowns. He was voted the NBA's top sixth man twice (1984, 1985) and was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1987. He was also named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team three times (1986, 1987 and 1988). The 6 ft.-10 in. forward/center averaged 17.9 points and 7.3 rebounds in 971 career regular-season games. He shot an impressive 55.4 percent from the floor and 79.8 percent at the free throw line. In 169 postseason contests, McHale increased his averages to 18.8 points and 7.4 rebounds.

In addition to being named to the Basketball Hall of Fame, McHale has received other honors for his basketball prowess. On July 8, 2000, he was inducted into the National High School Sports Hall of Fame. On Feb. 18, 1995, he was honored as the top player in U of M men's basketball history, as the school celebrated its 100th anniversary in the sport. During the 1997 All-Star Game in Cleveland, he was honored as one of the NBA's Top 50 Players for the league's first half-century.

A native of Hibbing, Minn., McHale was born Dec. 19, 1957. He and his wife, Lynn, along with their five children, Kristyn, Michael, Joseph, Alexandra and Thomas, reside in North Oaks, Minn.

For Timberwolves head coach Phil "Flip" Saunders, each season brings a new milestone. During the 2000-01 campaign, Saunders led the Wolves to 47 victories (47-35), including a franchise-record 11-game winning streak, which was also a league best last season. Additionally, he guided the team to a fifth consecutive postseason appearance.

On Jan. 7, Saunders recorded his 200th career victory as a head coach, and on Jan. 21, he coached in his 400th game. He was honored as the IBM NBA Coach of the Month for January after he led the Wolves to a 12-4 record. It was the second time in his career he had received the award. In September 2001 he led the United States men's basketball team to a perfect 5-0 record and a gold medal at the Goodwill Games in Brisbane, Australia.

In 1999-2000, Saunders led the Wolves to a franchise-best 50 victories and a fourth consecutive postseason appearance.

In 1997-98, Saunders coached the Wolves to their first-ever winning season (45-37). He also led the team to its first-ever postseason victory as the Timberwolves beat the Seattle SuperSonics twice before falling in the final game of the best-of-five playoff series.

In his first full season as the team's head coach, 1996-97, Saunders became the all-time winningest coach in franchise history, leading the team to a then all-time best record (40-42) and its first playoff appearance. During the 1998-99 season, Saunders held together a club that lost two key players and numerous others to injury to record a 25-25 mark. He has a 227-213 (.516) record in 440 games at the Timberwolves' helm. In his five full seasons as head coach, he has a 207-171 (.548) mark.

After seven seasons as a coach in the Continental Basketball Association (CBA), Saunders was named general manager of the Timberwolves on May 11, 1995. But his stay in a front-office-only capacity was to be short-lived. On Dec. 18, 1995, he added the title of head coach to his resume, replacing Bill Blair. Saunders guided the Timberwolves to a 20-42 (.323) mark in 62 games during the 1995-96 season, and was instrumental in the significant development of rookie Kevin Garnett and a change in the team's attitude on the floor and in the locker room.

Saunders' record of basketball coaching success has a history of its own. He ranks third all-time in the CBA with 253 victories. He began his CBA career in 1988-89 with the

HEAD COACH

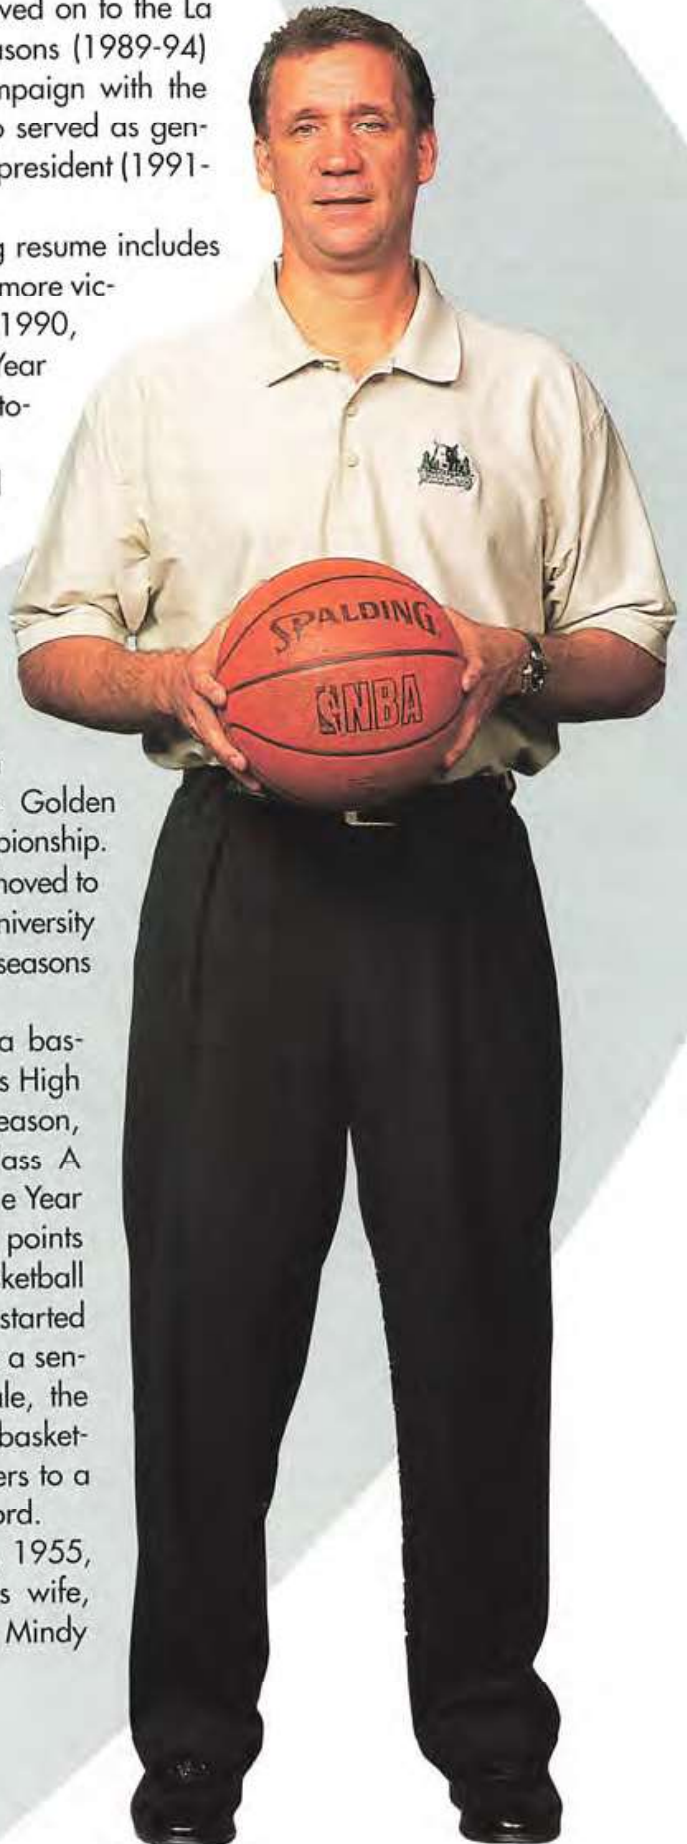

Rapid City (S.D.) Thrillers, then moved on to the La Crosse (Wis.) Catbirds for five seasons (1989-94) before coaching the 1994-95 campaign with the Sioux Falls (S.D.) Skyforce. He also served as general manager (1991-93) and team president (1991-94) of the Catbirds.

Saunders' impressive coaching resume includes seven consecutive seasons of 30 or more victories, two CBA championships (1990, 1992), two CBA Coach of the Year honors (1989, 1992) and 23 CBA-to-NBA player promotions.

Saunders began his successful coaching career at Golden Valley Lutheran College, where he compiled a 92-13 record, including a perfect 56-0 mark at home, in four seasons. In 1981, he joined the coaching staff at his alma mater – the University of Minnesota – as an assistant and helped coach the Golden Gophers to the 1982 Big Ten championship. After five seasons at Minnesota, he moved to an assistant coach position at the University of Tulsa, where he worked for two seasons before heading to the pro ranks.

Saunders was an All-America basketball player at Cuyahoga Heights High School in Cleveland. In his senior season, 1973, he was named Ohio's Class A High School Basketball Player of the Year after averaging a state-high 32.0 points a game. He continued his basketball career at Minnesota, where he started 101 of his 103 career contests. As a senior, he teamed with Kevin McHale, the Timberwolves' vice president of basketball operations, to lead the Gophers to a then all-time school-best 24-3 record.

Saunders was born Feb. 23, 1955, in Cleveland, Ohio. Flip and his wife, Debbie, have four children: Ryan, Mindy and twins, Rachel and Kimberly.

OCTOBER/NOVEMBER (8-7)

Highlighted by a five-game winning streak in mid-November that included wins over Milwaukee, Golden State and San Antonio, the Wolves closed out the month with an 8-7 record. The Wolves welcomed new faces LaPhonso Ellis, Chauncey Billups, Reggie Slater and Todd Day. Opening night on Halloween saw the Wolves in Houston, where Kevin Garnett scored 28 points and pulled down 11 rebounds as Minnesota defeated the Rockets, 106-98. But the story of the evening was Rasho Nesterovic, who scored 16 points and had 13 rebounds to earn his first-ever double-double. After losing to San Antonio, the Wolves defeated Sacramento, 99-91, on an emotional evening that saw Malik Sealy's No. 2 jersey retired. Garnett scored 28 points in the win. Minnesota then went to Utah, where Karl Malone and the Jazz defeated the Wolves, 98-92. They would go on to lose their next two games, at Denver and against Philadelphia, before turning things around at Milwaukee with a 103-92 win. Billups scored 31 points to lead the Wolves against the Bucks and Kevin Garnett posted 22 points and 11 rebounds. That triumph started a five-game winning streak for the Wolves. Garnett was named the NBA Player of the Week after leading the team to a 3-0 record for the week of Nov. 13-19 (wins over Milwaukee, Golden State and San Antonio), averaging 27.0 points, 11.0 rebounds and 4.0 assists. November also included wins over Atlanta, Vancouver and Chicago.

DECEMBER (9-7, 17-14)

Minnesota completed the month of December with a 9-7 mark. The Wolves started out the month with a 102-98 win against Boston at the FleetCenter, where Chauncey Billups scored 29 points and Kevin Garnett tallied 21 points to lead the Wolves. They then traveled to New York, where Allan Houston scored 37 points and the Knicks defeated the Wolves, 100-90, on the second night of a back-to-back. Minnesota then rattled off a four-game win streak that included victories over Chicago, Washington, the L.A. Clippers and an overtime road win against Philadelphia, 96-91. Garnett and Terrell Brandon led the Wolves by scoring 23 and 16 points, respectively, against the 76ers. The Wolves traveled to Detroit to play the Pistons and former teammate Joe Smith on Dec. 15 and came away with a 99-90 win. Garnett tallied his first triple-double of the season by posting 26 points, 13 rebounds and 10 assists. After a thrilling overtime win against Indiana (113-110) at Target Center, Minnesota went back on the road for two games and suffered consecutive defeats at Golden State and the L.A. Clippers before coming home for a season-high six-game homestand. The Wolves lost to Charlotte and Utah before defeating Toronto and Atlanta. They closed out the month of December with a home loss to New York.

JANUARY (12-4, 29-18)

January was highlighted by an eight-game winning streak that extended into February. It was also the second-best record in the month of January for the Wolves, following January 2000's 12-3 mark. The Wolves started out the month, and the new year, by defeating Houston at Target Center, 106-96, where Kevin Garnett scored 21 points and Terrell Brandon and Wally Szczerbiak added 19 apiece to lead the Wolves. Minnesota then suffered a 115-108 loss to Washington before defeating Seattle at home and Phoenix on the road. Head Coach Flip Saunders recorded his 200th career victory with a 108-88 win at America West Arena. The Wolves then traveled to Sacramento, where they sustained the first of two defeats to the Kings, 100-97, and at home to Dallas, 106-86, before rebounding with a home win against the L.A. Clippers. After a Martin Luther King Day loss to Boston, the Wolves defeated Utah, 89-81, at the Delta Center, in what would be the start of Minnesota's 11-game win streak. The next two games were road wins at Seattle and Vancouver, where Saunders coached his 400th career game in a 96-94 win over the Grizzlies. LaPhonso Ellis secured the win with a three-pointer at the buzzer. The Wolves returned home for a five-game winning streak that saw the team knock off Phoenix, Orlando, Portland, Milwaukee and the reigning NBA Champion L.A. Lakers for a 12-4 January record, second-best in the league, topped only by Philadelphia's mark of 13-3.

FEBRUARY (5-6, 34-24)

February saw Minnesota continue its winning streak that extended to 11 games before the All-Star Break. On Feb. 1, the Wolves traveled to Cleveland to take on the Cavaliers and came away with a 90-81 win. Terrell Brandon scored 27 points against his former team and Kevin Garnett recorded 18 points and 10 rebounds to lead the Wolves. Win No. 2 in the month of February came at the Air Canada Centre against the Toronto Raptors. Garnett scored 30 points and pulled down 13 rebounds, while Tracy Murray's potential game-tying three-pointer was waved off at the buzzer to give the Wolves a 108-105 victory and win No. 10 in a row. The Wolves returned home to take on Sacramento just before the All-Star Break in a game that featured six team and individual records set in a 117-88 win. The Wolves scored the game's first seven points, then reeled off 18 consecutive points to eventually end the first quarter with a 41-10 advantage. The team headed into the locker room up 62-31. The Kings would get no closer as the Wolves won, 117-88, to notch their second-largest winning margin of the season. Minnesota set club records for points in a quarter (41); for blocks in a quarter (8) and in a half (11); and consecutive wins. Garnett set records for field goals made in a half (13 in the first half) and the game (17) and tied his career-high point total with 40. Rashaun Nesterovic set a club record for blocks in a quarter (6) and in a half (7). On Feb. 11 Garnett started for the Western Conference in the All-Star Game and scored 14 points. Wally Szczerbiak played in the Schick Rookie Challenge a day earlier, scored 27 points and was named the game's MVP. After the All-Star Break, the Wolves headed to Portland for the first of two games on the road. Minnesota saw its winning streak end at 11 as the Trail Blazers defeated the Wolves, 109-88, in the first of five straight defeats. Minnesota also lost to Phoenix, San Antonio, Vancouver and Houston before bouncing back to defeat Golden State 122-83 by the largest winning margin of the season. Terrell Brandon posted his second career triple-double in the win against Golden State, tallying 27 points, 10 rebounds and 16 assists. After a 110-100 defeat at Indiana, the Wolves closed out February with a 111-100 win at home against Detroit. Garnett tallied his second triple-double of the season, registering 18 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists. On February 28, the Wolves signed free-agent guard Felipe Lopez.

MARCH (8-6, 42-30)

The Wolves started the month with an 89-71 win at Denver, in which Kevin Garnett scored 24 points and pulled down 14 rebounds. Minnesota then defeated Seattle in a 119-111 overtime win before going on the road for three games. The Wolves earned their first-ever win at Charlotte (95-89), but dropped the next two games at Miami and at Orlando. The Wolves came home and defeated Miami, 94-77, before heading back on the road for a two-game Texas swing at San Antonio and Dallas. Minnesota had five players in double figures, including Reggie Slater with 14, but the Spurs defeated the Wolves in overtime, 106-100. Minnesota also dropped a 103-83 decision at Dallas before the Wolves returned home for a four-game home stand. The Wolves were undefeated during the stretch, earning wins against Cleveland, Dallas, Denver and New Jersey. Terrell Brandon scored a career-high 34 points to lead the Wolves against the Nets. Minnesota closed out the month of March on the road with losses at Seattle and Sacramento.

APRIL (5-5, 47-35)

April saw the Wolves go 5-5 and clinch their fifth straight playoff berth with a win at Vancouver on April 10. The month started out with a double dip of Portland. The Wolves defeated the Trail Blazers, 99-95, at the Rose Garden, led by Terrell Brandon's 30-point effort. Minnesota battled Portland again three days later at Target Center and defeated the Trail Blazers, 83-79, in the first contest of a three-game home-stand. The Wolves defeated the Phoenix Suns, 101-88, before losing to the L.A. Lakers, 104-99, for their first home loss since Feb. 21. After clinching a playoff spot with a 104-91 win at Vancouver, where Wally Szczerbiak scored a career-high 28 points, the Wolves lost both contests in Los Angeles as the Lakers beat the Wolves, 119-102, and the Clippers won, 111-105, the next night. Minnesota returned home on April 15 for the last regular-season home game. In a contest that saw each team's leading scorer (Karl Malone and Kevin Garnett) ejected within seconds of each other, the Wolves held on for a 107-100 win. It was Garnett's first career ejection. The Wolves closed out the season in the state of Texas, where the season began, and dropped both contests, losing a 114-87 decision at Houston and a 120-100 contest at Dallas. The Wolves ended the season with the second-most victories in franchise history (47) and a franchise-best 30-11 home record. LaPhonso Ellis played in all 82 games for the first time since his rookie season. Garnett finished the season with 54 double-doubles in 81 outings and has scored in double figures in his last 291 games.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA playoffs: the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record – regardless of division. The first round is best-of-five games and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-seven games.

In every series, the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matches, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First Round are teams 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the conference semifinals, the winner of teams 1-8 plays the winner of teams 4-5 and the winner of teams 2-7 plays the winner of teams 3-6.

The NBA Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-seven series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June, 1983. A vote by the NBA Board of Governors made the revisions effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowing 16 teams to qualify for the playoffs and changing the first-round best-of-three series to a best-of-five series.

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

Mission Statement

The Minnesota Timberwolves Community Foundation wants to positively impact the lives of the youth in Minnesota communities, enabling them to make responsible decisions, and helping them to contribute to their own future.

Since 1989, the Minnesota Timberwolves Community Foundation has been a vital contributor to the Twin Cities community as well as to many communities throughout the state. Providing more than $2 million in charitable contributions over the past 12 years, the Timberwolves Foundation has created many new community initiatives, while providing funding to many worthwhile programs and charitable organizations.

The Timberwolves Foundation has been a driving force behind many youth-related projects over the past 12 years, including the N.B.A. (Never Be Absent) initiative, the NBA Team-Up Program, the Tickets for Kids program, Boys in the Hood Junior League, Project Rebound, Jump Start to Reading, Heroes in the Making, the Timberwolves Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Holiday celebration, the Give-and-Go Basketball Leagues, the Timberwolves Holiday Hospital Tours and many others.

The Timberwolves Foundation strives to do more than provide financial support for these and many other charitable causes and organizations. The Foundation's goal is to create an interactive relationship that often includes tickets to home games, player and staff visits and incentives for at-risk youth.

The following are examples of some of the more than 30 programs and organizations that the Timberwolves Foundation is involved with.

NBA Program (Never Be Absent)

The 2001-02 season marks the second year the Timberwolves, Target and Take Charge of Education present N.B.A. (Never Be Absent), an incentive program targeting middle school students. Individually, students are rewarded for perfect monthly attendance with auto-graphed certificates and prizes. Classrooms compete for best overall attendance prizes, including player appearances, pizza parties and tickets to games. All students who reach the attendance goal for the year will be invited to the Celebration held in April. After serving over 2,000 students in its first year, the program will expand to serve over 2,600 students in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Read to Achieve

The Timberwolves and the National Basketball Association's new reading initiative promotes the value of reading and online literacy while encouraging families and adults to read regularly with young children. Log on to timberwolves.com for more information about Read to Achieve.

Thanksgiving Turkey Giveaway

Timberwolves players, coaches and staff distribute several hundred turkeys from the Target Center lobby to needy families and individuals. The giveaway is sponsored by Home Depot.

Holiday Ham Giveaway

In December, Timberwolves players, coaches and staff distribute several hundred Hormel hams from the Target Center lobby to needy families and individuals.

Hospital Tour

Timberwolves players, coaches and staff visit area children's hospitals and shelters, bringing gifts, smiles and words of encouragement.

Holiday Party for Kids

In an attempt to provide cheer and fun for underprivileged youth, the Home Depot and the Minnesota Timberwolves host a Holiday Party for 200 children (ages 5-16) from local shelters and community agencies. Along with a parent or guardian, the kids enjoy balloons, chats with Santa, face painting and a hot meal. Instead of receiving a wrapped toy, each child receives a gift certificate good at any store at the Mall of America. In addition, Timberwolves players are on hand to distribute the gift certificates and spread holiday cheer.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Holiday Program

In an effort to honor the life and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Timberwolves conduct an hour-long program. The format includes a keynote speaker, special musical performances by local and national acts, as well as appearances by Timberwolves players.

Tickets for Kids

The Timberwolves donate more than 15,000 tickets per season to non-profit agencies, schools and shelters. Season-ticket holders also donate unused tickets to this program for distribution. This program allows less fortunate individuals to see an NBA basketball game and visit Target Center. Individual and corporate grants for tickets are matched by Timberwolves players and the Timberwolves Foundation.

Taste of the Timberwolves

The primary fundraiser for the Timberwolves Foundation, this casual night of dining and interaction with Timberwolves players and coaches is a once-in-a-lifetime experience for a fan. Every year, a dozen of the Twin Cities' finest restaurants donate their food and services to create an unforgettable buffet, while players and coaches take on all challengers in ping-pong, billiards, free throw shooting and other activities. In its six-year history, Taste of the Timberwolves has raised more than $1 million for the Timberwolves Foundation.

Scholarship Program

The Timberwolves and Lynx provide five $2,000 scholarships to high school seniors who are enrolled in college programs for the fall semester. This past year, more than 600 applications were received from students throughout Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. The scholarships focus on community service, academic achievement and overall character.

Minnesota D.A.R.E., Inc.

The Timberwolves Community Foundation has selected Minnesota D.A.R.E., Inc. as its signature charity relationship for the 2001-02 season. The partnership includes a $50,000 gift, volunteer and event support, as well as exposure and promotion during Timberwolves games for this non-profit agency. Minnesota D.A.R.E., Inc. is the administrator of the leading drug and violence prevention program in the state. Annually, the D.A.R.E. Program is presented to over 116,000 Minnesota students in our 850 schools. The D.A.R.E. Program is facilitated by over 550 Minnesota peace officers in over 400 cities and towns statewide.

Heroes in the Making

At selected home games, Jostens and the Timberwolves will recognize "Heroes in the Making." These individuals will be cited for meritorious acts within the Twin Cities area. At each of the selected games, the Timberwolves will honor an individual who has committed an act beyond the scope and realm of their everyday occupational focus. There will also be a scoreboard recognition and an award presentation citing the individual's commendable act.

American Heart Association

In conjunction with the American Heart Association (AHA), the Timberwolves promote the importance of healthy living habits among children through the HeartPower program. The Wolves and AHA realize the importance of developing healthy living habits at a young age because many of the risk factors associated with heart disease and stroke are related to lifestyle choices that are developed in childhood. Developing heart-healthy habits in childhood may be the single most important factor in reducing the risk of cardiovascular disease in adulthood.

A.C.E.S.

A.C.E.S. (Athletes Committed to Educating Students) is an after-school tutoring/mentoring organization for inner-city elementary, middle and high school youth. At the elementary school level, the program incorporates area college and professional athletes into a sports designed curriculum that teaches youth a variety of school-related learning activities through sports assignment. The middle school program focuses on building homework and study skills. "Study Buddy" tutors/mentors meet individually with the students to work on regular school homework. The high school program does not focus on direct service. A.C.E.S. assists students with joining a partner program that focuses on college preparation.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

The NBA is deeply committed to creating programs that improve the quality of life for all people, with a special emphasis on reading and youth programs. Each year the league, its players and its teams donate millions of dollars and hundreds of hours to charities and community outreach programs. Through its extensive outreach programs, team foundations and public service announcements, the NBA is deeply involved in addressing a variety of important social issues in its communities.

Read to Achieve is a year-round program designed to help young people develop a life-long love for reading that will reach an estimated 50 million children a year. It is the most extensive educational outreach initiative in the history of professional sports. In addition to a $100 million a year promotional campaign, the effort includes the annual donation of more than 200,000 books through a variety of reading events and book fairs, as well as the development of essay contests and on-line programs.

With the support of long-time national partners such as RIF and Scholastic Inc., Read to Achieve will create Reading and Learning Centers throughout North America in an effort to provide access to reading materials and technology to young people everywhere. These centers are modeled after the work done at the Eastern Branch of the Boys & Girls Club in Washington, D.C., that was unveiled during All-Star 2001. In addition, a wide variety of reading timeouts, book distribution events, book fairs, reading programs, essay events and on-line programs are being developed for the upcoming season.

Integral components of the program are national and local All-Star Reading Teams comprised of current and former NBA and WNBA players and other members of the NBA family, who promote reading efforts through in-arena events, Public Service Announcements, and community appearances throughout the year.

In recognition of the community outreach of our players, the league has established the Hometown Hero of the Month Award, which honors players whose efforts in the community are truly outstanding. To honor the NBA Player that reflects the passion that the league and its players have for their communities, all 29 NBA teams nominate a player for the Hometown Hero of the Month Award, which is presented 12 times a year.

Awarded annually at the conclusion of each league's regular season, the NBA and WNBA Sportsmanship Awards recognize players who embody the spirit of sportsmanship. The NBA makes a $25,000 donation on behalf of the NBA Sportsmanship Award honoree, and a $10,000 donation on behalf of each of the three divisional awardees, to the high school of their choice. In addition, the NBA will recognize National Sportsmanship Day with local events throughout North America.

The NBA also supports the efforts of Prevent Child Abuse America, the Martin Luther King Holiday, Black History Month, Gallaudet University, and the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Fund.
